The Battle of Salferino.

The steamship Hungarian which arrived at Quebec yesterday, brings some meagre details of the great battle of the 24th, between the Austrians and Allies. The Austrians crossed the Mincio for the purpose of attacking the allied army with their whole force, but were repulsed and obliged to re-cross it, after having had thirty-five thousand men put hors du combat, and lost sixteen flags and seventy-five cannon. The French loss was also very heavy, being estimated by themselves at twelve thousand killed and wounded. The battle was fought at Salferino, on the west bank of the Mincio, and was undoubtedly one of the bloodiest contests that has occurred in modern times. The fact that the Austrians were obliged to make so precipitate a retreat as to permit NAPOLEON to sleep in the same room occupied by the Emperor FRANCES JOSEPH in the morning is pretty conclusive evidence that they get badly worsted. The French army suffered so severely that it is said they will not be able to resume the offensive immediately. Meantime reinforcements were daily expected from France, and one hundred and seventy-five thousand troops from the Austrian reserves were on their way to Italy, and another great battle was impending.

Trade Between the Upper Lakes and Europe.

The Detroit Free Press has an article on this subject in which it adverts to the fact that since the direct trade between the Upper Lakes and Europe was inaugurated in 1856, no less than thirty-seven vessels have gone out as follows: one in 1856; two in 1857; thirteen in 1858, and twenty-one in 1859.

The Free Press compiled the following table, giving the names of all the vessels that have thus far cleared from the Upper Lake ports, the places where each vessel loaded, where owned, and the year it sailed:

The first vessel to venture across the ocean, it will be seen, was the Dean Richmond, a new vessel, built at Cleveland, and though claimed to be owned at Chicago, her owner resided here at the time she sailed. She took out a cargo of fifteen thousand bushels of wheat from this port to Liverpool, loading from the warehouse of Messrs. H. & J. F. HILL. The Richmond did not return, having been sold in England, and her name changed to that of the Belinda, and she is now engaged in the trade between England and South America.

The next year she was followed by the bark C. J. Kershaw, which was built and owned at Cleveland, and loaded at Detroit with a load of staves. She returned as far as Montreal the same season, where she was detained until the next Spring, when she returned to Detroit and again took out a cargo of lumber and staves. This was the first round trip. She has been engaged since last year in the trade between England and the West Indies.

The schooner Dean Richmond, which inaugurated the trade, sailing from this port, is the only vessel, we believe, that has ever taken a clear cargo of wheat from the upper Lakes to Europe. The M. S. Scott, owned by Messrs. THORSON & FISHBECK, of this city, which is put down as having loaded at St. Josephs, took on a considerable portion of her cargo here and cleared from this port.

In concluding its article, the Free Press remarks that "if it were possible to employ vessels of fifteen hundred tons burden, or even one thousand, we should soon see not only all the lumber and staves designed for the European market shipped directly to European ports, but flour and grain as well. But as it is the smallness of the Canadian canals presents an insuperable barrier to anything larger at present. If these should ever be enlarged to a sufficient capacity, the trade between the upper lakes and Europe would become of even more importance than that with New York. It is not at all probable that this will very soon be realized, however, because it is more profitable, as well as safer, in the present state of the canals, to send grain to New York. The lumber, and especially the stave business, seems to be the only one that is remunerative, and these vessels which hereafter engage in the European trade will, without doubt, confine themselves mostly to it, just as they did last year, and just as they do this year. This promises to become large, doubling one year upon another, as it has thus far, until all the exports of these commodities from this region shall be by direct shipments."

THE GREAT CRICKET MATCH.—The cricket match between eighteen Americans and eleven Englishmen, which was played at Hoboken on Monday and Tuesday, ended in a victory by the Englishmen, with five wickets to go down. In the first innings, the Americans made 81 and the Englishmen 90; in the second innings, the former made 116, and the latter 99.

The Hungarians and the War.

Special Dispatch to the Cincinnati Gazette.

BALTIMORE, July 6.

The New York Herald says: The Vanderbilt has brought letters of the deepest interest to the exiled Hungarians in this country. The news conveyed by them will send a thrill to the heart of every Magyar, whose hopes have been vaguely excited by the events passing in Italy. It appears that a general Hungarian committee, composed of Kossuth, Klapka and Teleki, has been formed, and that to it has been entrusted the direction of all matters relating to the anticipated movements in Hungary. This committee holds its sittings at Genoa, although Teleki has received an appointment in Louis Napoleon's staff.

A Hungarian force of twenty thousand men is to be formed at Genoa, to be composed of such exiles and foreigners as may be disposed to assist in raising the flag of national independence, together with the deserters that may be induced to quit the Austrian ranks. A body of two thousand men has already been collected at that point. It has been put under the command of Col. Bas, and will serve as a basis of the expeditionary force.

Should the movement not be stopped by any untoward event, the plan is, as soon as a division of twenty thousand men is assembled, to transport them, with assistance of the French Government, which has promised horses for the purpose, to the Eastern coast of the Adriatic, from whence they will make their way into Hungary, and serve as a nucleus to the Revolutionists there.

The letters that have brought this intelligence request the Hungarians, to whom they are addressed, to prepare themselves for departure, but on no account to leave without further instructions. It is expected that the final orders will arrive in the course of a fortnight, that delay being necessary on account of an interview which was to be held with Count Cavour, to ascertain if the Sardinian Government would lend its assistance towards the objects of the movement.

Great Flood!—Root River Two Feet Higher than Ever Known Before!

The late rains at the north and west of us, have produced the highest water in Root River ever known. At the present writing it stands two feet higher than the great flood of 1854! The entire railroad line along the valley is submerged, and fears are entertained that serious loss must follow. Families living upon the bottoms have been driven to the mountains for safety. Property is everywhere afloat.

The works of the Hon. C. W. Thompson are safe, and his loss in property much less than was anticipated, when the water-guage, for three hours, announced a rise of one inch and a quarter every 15 minutes! At the highest point, the water stood upon the floor of the machine shop of the "Western Works," two feet four inches, and such a fraternal feeling among beadsteads, chairs, bibs, spokes, rakes, &c., &c., was never seen before. The two bridges over Thompsons' creek, leading to the steamboat landing, are swept away, and loose property about the Mills and Works is scattered in every direction, much of which, however, will be saved. It is thought that $200 will cover Mr. T.'s loss. No lives lost.

The railroad bridge at the third crossing on Root River, eight miles above Hokah, at half past six o'clock, last evening, was six inches under water, and the river still rising. Serious fears are entertained for its safety. At Houston, the water is reported two feet deep upon the lower floors of Lynch's Hotel, and and that families are ferrying their effects to the bluffs for protection. We expect to hear of great loss at Chatfield, Preston, and other towns on the head waters of Root River.—Hokah (Minn.) Chief, July 4.

Treasury Eating.

Special despatch to the N. Y. Times.

WASHINGTON, July 6.

Extraordinary developments are leaking out with regard to how the Treasury is plundered through the Utah army contracts. A short time since the mercantile firm of Gilbert, Morish & Martin, of Salt Lake, offered to furnish the Government with flour for the year, delivered in Utah at ten dollars per hundred. This offer was rejected, and now it is said that a contract was made directly afterwards with the Hollidays, at twenty-eight dollars and sixty cents. Thus hundreds of thousands of dollars are put into the pockets of speculators—the friends of the War Department. It is known that the Mormons have an immense supply of grain, and the firm spoken of could have obtained a large supply in Utah.

It is possible that the Mexican Government may secure the aid of volunteer forces from the United States to settle the difficulties in that country. The matter is under consideration. It is not considered that there would be any violation of law should Juarez decide to accept the forces, Mexico not being at war with any foreign country.

The Grain Crop of Russia.

Special Dispatch to the Cincinnati Gazette.

BALTIMORE, July 6.

A very important item of news, brought by the Vanderbilt, is, that a long continued drought is damaging the grain crop of Southern Russia. Southern Russia is a great competer of the United States in the British grain market; and in good seasons the exports from Russian Black Sea ports amount to millions of bushels, nine-tenths of which are wheat. It was the stoppage of this supply by the Crimean war that caused flour to advance to ten and twelve dollars per barrel in this country.

FIRST TRIP OF THE ANSON NORTHRUP—NAVIGATION OF THE RED RIVER A SUCCESS!—We had the pleasure of conversing yesterday with Mr. James Ross, a merchant at Red River Settlement—some fifty or sixty miles north of Pembina, in the British Possessions—who was a passenger on the "Ans. Northrup," on her return from Fort Garry week before last. He says the trip down was eminently successful, and created great excitement through the country there among the inhabitants, who had never seen a steamboat before.

She started on her return trip from Fort Garry on Friday, the 17th of June, and reached Fort Abercrombie, where she now lies, on June 25th, having made the trip in eight days, running only by daylight, in an unexplored channel, and having to stop to cut her own wood along shore. There were about twenty-five passengers in all on board, mostly merchants, from the settlements in that region, coming to this city to purchase goods.

The Ans. Northrup will return in a few days, and will have quite a full freight of goods for the settlements along the Red River, including goods for the Hudson Bay Company, which arrived a few days since—as well as a good list of passengers.—Minnesotian, July 6.

THE GROWTH OF OUR COMMERCIAL RELATIONS.—Passengers arrived in this city yesterday, almost simultaneously, on the stages of the Minnesota Stage Company, direct from Bayfield on Lake Superior, and Fort Garry in British America. The former came through in five days, and on the first stage coach which ever passed between Bayfield and St. Paul. The passengers from Fort Garry came on the Anson Northrup to Fort Abercrombie and thence by stage and private conveyance to this city.

It will thus be seen that the commercial relations of St. Paul with the country northeast of us on Lake Superior, and northwest, on Red River and Lake Winnepeg, are being rapidly and distinctly defined. The excitement of a visit to these points from St. Paul, a short time since, was reserved alone for the voyageur, Indian trader, and enterprising prospector of two sites; now they are directly connected with this city, by regular and speedy means of communication, and the transit can be made in a comfortable manner.

Mails reached our Post Office from Red River and Bayfield on the same day, and passengers arriving from these three separated localities met on the steamer Key City yesterday on their way east.—St. Paul Pioneer.

THE WISCONSIN publishes a letter from a "sensible man," who being sick of politics and desiring "a family paper," subscribes to the "maternal institution." We think ourselves, that man is sound. If our cotemporary will leave politics to the Sentinel and News and adhere firmly to domestic affairs, a few more sensible men will be suited.

Terrible Disease from Lucifer Matches.

From the New York Express.

Many of our readers will smile when we say there is a disease called in common parlance "the match disease." Very few, among the thousands or millions who light their lamp, their pipe, or their segar with a lucifer match, are aware of the fact that those who manufacture, and those who use these matches are liable to contract one of the most dreadful of diseases. We quote from the Sun:

"Quite recently a young woman who worked in a match manufactory was sent to the Bellevue Hospital to have an under jaw removed, which had become diseased by inhaling the phosphorus acid used in the factory. The operation was skillfully performed, and the young woman, after some time, went from the hospital perfectly cured. She had, however, a diseased tooth in one of her upper jaws, and returning to her old business of match making, she soon contracted anew the disease, and finally died of it."

"Another instance of this match disease came under our observation yesterday at the Bellevue Hospital. A young girl who has worked in a match factory, had her left upper jaw, which has become diseased, removed by the surgeons of the establishment, in presence of some of our most eminent physicians. Dr. Mott, Jr., and Dr. Church performed the operation, in presence of a large number of the faculty—Dr. Mott, Senior, and Dr. Francis being present and assisting with their advice.

"The young woman was brought into the operating room or 'theatre,' and placed under the influence of ether. When she had become perfectly insensible, the cheek was cut open from the chin to the ear, and the diseased jaw cut out. The roots of the disease were followed and cut out, and the blood vessels carefully tied up. Before the operation was completed, she returned to consciousness, and her cries, while the cheek was being sewed up, were agonizing. Several left the room, but the doctors continued their work with the utmost impassiveness. The portion of the jaw removed was, as one of the spectators remarked, 'perfectly rotten.'

"We learned from the physicians that the disease is quite common among those who work in match factories, and that it is dangerous for any one who has diseased teeth to be employed in the manufacture of lucifer matches. They also state that the disease may be contracted by those who have diseased teeth, by lighting cigars or pipes with lucifers, and inhaling the phosphoric acid which is liberated by their ignition. It is well for people to understand this fact, and as the doctors say, if a person has a diseased tooth, he or she should have it removed at once, and thus escape all danger of the match disease."

We should be inclined to discredit the above, were it not for the fact that two cases similar to those mentioned, have occurred in this city, within a year, one of them resulting fatally.

One of the victims was a Hollander, named named JOHN SHOEP, who resides in the 9th Ward. He had worked in a Match Factory for some time, and having a decayed tooth, contracted the "Match Disease," and a couple of weeks since had to undergo a severe surgical operation to save his life. We have been shown a piece of the diseased bone taken from his jaw, nearly two inches long, rotten, and as porous as a piece of pumice stone.

The other was that of a boy, whose name we do not recall, who worked in one of our Match Factories, and died from the effects of this disease something less than a year ago.

In view of these facts it will be well for persons with decayed teeth to be careful how they use lucifer matches.

THE MADISON "JOURNAL" having read the voluminous report in the Wisconsin, thus speaks of—

"THE FOURTH" IN MILWAUKEE.—The celebration of Independence Day in Milwaukee, was a decided fizzle, so far as the procession was concerned. The firemen insisted that they should "have the right of the line," and the military were decidedly of the opinion that they should have it. The representation of the "Union" by thirty-three young girls did not take place, and the military turned out thin in rank. * * *

Then a "ragamuffin parade" occurred.—The regatta was also a "fizzle." The most successful arrangement of the day was a picnic by the scholars of the Asbury M. E. Sunday School. The exhibition of fireworks in the evening was splendid.

Our Madison friend will learn in time that the generality of things have the appearance of "fizzles" when served up under certain circumstances. It was in the telling, not in the celebration.

VERY ENTERPRISING.—The Wisconsin of last evening has the following startling announcement in its leading column:

BY TELEGRAPH.—The steamers Vigo and Asia are in with later news from Europe.—For full report of news see fourth page.

The steamers Vigo and Asia arrived on Wednesday evening last, and the patrons of the Wisconsin had, doubtless, read the "full report" of the news in the Sentinel about twenty-four hours before the "old lady" had discovered the steamers were "in."

THE LIGHT GUARD QUICKSTEP.—The Buffalo Express notices this beautiful new piece of music, by Mr. HEMPSTED, of this city, as follows:

"The Milwaukee Light Guard Quickstep," by H. N. Hempsted, Milwaukee. This piece will meet with a favorable reception here, after the visit of the splendid company in whose honor it was composed, and to whom it is dedicated. It is embellished with a beautiful lithograph representing an encampment of the Guards, with Capt. Starkweather and three of his subordinate officers in the foreground.

PERSONAL.—Col. CHAS. D. ROBINSON, the genial editor of the Green Bay Advocate, was in town yesterday. He reports the State of Green Bay as prosperous, and the Lumber business improving. If the Democrats are wise enough to nominate the Colonel as their candidate for Governor, we shall have to work hard to beat him.

A MISTAKE.—The News of yesterday announces that "D" Company, of Buffalo, and the Light Guard, of Detroit, will come up to this city, on the first trip of the new steamer Milwaukee, and be entertained here by the Milwaukee Light Guard. This is a mistake. No such excursion is contemplated.

LECTURE AT GOOD TEMPLARS' HALL.—The Rev. Mr. LOVE, of this city, will deliver the opening lecture of a series, at Good Templars' Hall, in Bowman's block, next to the Custom House, on Milwaukee street, to-morrow afternoon, at 4 1-2 o'clock. The public are respectfully invited to attend.

QUITE A NUMBER of the Pastors of our City Churches are now either absent or preparing to take their annual vacations. The Preacher's weekly meeting has been discontinued for the time being.

THE WISCONSIN FARMER for June, contains a valuable essay on the Plow, and preparation of the soil for seed; quite a number of equally valuable and interesting articles will be found therein.

ELDER WARREN will lecture at Good Templars Hall, in Bowman's new building, North-East of the Post Office, on the Harmonial Philosophy, Sunday, at 2 1-2 and 7 1-2 o'clock. Admission Free.

LOOK OUT FOR YOUR DOGS!—Owners of good dogs are requested to look at the notice, in this morning's paper, from the Chief of Police.

TUNIS & CO., have just received the Chess Monthly for July. Lovers of the game can be instructed by investing 25 cents at the News Depot, 25 Wisconsin street.

DENTAL CONVENTION.—The Convention of Dentists adjourned Thursday evening after a very interesting and beneficial session.

New Books.

THE VAGABOND—By Adam Badeau—For sale by Strickland & Co.

This book is a re-infliction of numerous papers originally published in the New York Sunday Times. From the fact that several Eastern journals gave an unmerited notoriety to these essays, during their first display,—we were induced to labor through the book, with the vain hope that an original thought or felicitous expression would turn up before we arrived at the last page, and redeem the lost time. In this we were disappointed.—The "Vagabond" is an ardent admirer of the Blaze WILLIS; he brings the classic grace of the schools to do homage at the opera, allowing an occasional moral truth from some patent mould to drop in between his well-turned periods, for the mere sake of appearances. "Vagabond" evidently has no higher ambition than to charm the world with his ineffable contempt. He was formed for existence in a cologne atmosphere and the sunlight of chandeliers. No one will ever regret having read the "Potiphar Papers," the "Idlewild letters, or the Raveries of a Bachelor," and it is with these charming "society" books that our vagabond has been placed by critics, probably of the same kid glove school, who perceive caste where they cannot merit. We cannot see the justice of the association. Our author is happy in nothing but his selection of a cognomen; his style, though polished and chaste, is neither brilliant nor original, his theme, when soaring high above "pink bonnets," and out of the odor of "West end," becomes as rarified as the new element about it.

We will not pretend to say what the object of this book was: if the coterel of fashionable admirers through Eight street and Second Avenue clap their straw colored kids over the edition, our author will, undoubtedly, be satisfied, but we predict no very great enthusiasm in this practical part of christendom, over the hypersensitive speculations of our young friend.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE COUNTY.

SATURDAY MORNING, JULY 9, 1859.

Republican State Convention.

A Republican State Convention will be held at the City of Madison, in the Assembly Hall of the Capitol on Wednesday, the 31st day of August next, at 12 o'clock M., for the purpose of nominating candidates for State officers to be supported by the party at the ensuing general election; and to transact any other business that may properly come before it.

As the subject of selecting delegates to the next National Convention may be entertained and acted on by the Convention, it is suggested that the people in their primary caucuses, and the district conventions make such expression as will intimate to their delegates and the State Convention, the general sentiment of the State on that subject.

Each Assembly District will be entitled to two delegates in the Convention.

It is recommended that District Conventions for the selection of delegates be held throughout the state, on or before the 25th day of August, and that committees make early calls for that purpose; and it is especially urged that every district be duly represented in the Convention.

Judge Hawley, of Steuben, N. Y.

We alluded the other day to the fact that HON. WM. M. HAWLEY, of Steuben county, had written a review of the acts of his party for the last few years. We find in the Corning Journal the following in reference to his future political course: "We learn that Hon. WM. M. HAWLEY, of Hornellsville, has decided to act hereafter with the Republican party. He was at one time County Judge, and was also a State Senator, and in each position was distinguished and popular. His adhesion to the Republican party in this section is significant of still further changes. Judge HAWLEY was a Barnburner in 1848, and acted with that section until the majority united in the formation of the Republican party.—He chose rather to cling to the barren name of Democracy, and the next year was a zealous supporter of BUCHANAN for the Presidency. The results of this Administration have disgusted him. He has been compelled to repudiate the policy of Mr. BUCHANAN, and in a recent letter to the Hornellsville Journal ably reviewed the past history and present pitiable condition of the Sham Democratic party."

"SLEEPING BEAUTIES."—A Paris letter says—"The story about faintings, which is going the round of the papers, is not exact It was not Madame McMahon alone who fainted. An eye-witness has recounted the scene. The despatch was brought to the Lady Regent. It was in cyphers as usual—cyphers of which the imperial lady alone has the key. It was the longest which has ever been transmitted by electric telegraph, and has been registered as such; and as the Empress proceeded in her deciphering, the emotion and dread grew greater at each word until, completely overpowered by the agitation of the moment, the dread of what was to come, the eagerness and terror evinced by the ladies present to learn the contents of the despatch, all of them personally interested through near and dear relations in the solution of the cipherings, she sank back in a swoon, grasping in her closed hand the paper upon which were traced the figures whose hidden meaning conveyed sentences of despair to so many. It is well known that swooning, like weeping, is catching by contact. One by one the ladies gave way to the sensation, and the drawing room at St. Cloud soon resembled the scene in the Sleeping Beauty in the Wood. Madame McMahon, who has been quoted as the only one to whom the accident happened, was, on the contrary, the first to whom consciousness returned, and soon was to learn the high fortune to which her husband had attained; and the glory he had earned at Magenta."

HORSE RAILROADS IN BALTIMORE.—The Philadelphia Ledger says that the scene at the subscription to the first city passenger railroad in Baltimore was more amusing and exciting than that at Pittsburg. There was no fight, it is true, but some one stole the book of subscription, and there was quite a hunt for it before it was obtained. The amount subscribed was one hundred and fifty millions of dollars, a sum large enough to carry on the war against Austria and drive her out of Lombardy and Venice. One individual subscribed sixty-five millions of dollars; one subscribed fifty millions, and another ten millions. A Philadelphian, named GRAFF, subscribed for five million dollars worth, with a proviso securing one million shares. The amount really needed for the work is probably half a million, so there will be a considerable oversplus, and we would advise the Baltimoreans, while the spirit is up, to push their railroads forward. There may not, if the war continues very long, be so much spare capital about hereafter.

THE JOURNAL notices the occurrence of a fatal accident at Racine on the Fourth. Two boys, one by the name of ARCHIBALD TALFOUR, and the other by the name of CROUCH, were discharging at each other guns loaded with powder. They had repeated this a few times, when by some accident the iron head of the ramrod in the hands of CROUCH, came off and was left in his gun. Without discovering the accident they fired again at each other, when the head of the ramrod was discharged, and entered the body of TALFOUR in the flank, a little above the pelvis at the left. He has since died from the effects of his wound.

THE VERDICT OF A CANADIAN JURY.—St. Catherines Post states that a man fell down an embankment in that city, a few nights since, and was killed. The Coroner's jury, which sat upon the body, rendered a verdict of wilful murder against the Street Committee and other members of the Corporation, for leaving the place unguarded.

THE TAXABLE PROPERTY of New York city, as assessed for the present year, reaches the enormous sum of $551,923,122, of which real estate takes $378,954,930, and personal $158,536,730—non-resident, $14,631,162.—The total increase over last year is $26,701,182.

THE ELECTION FRAUDS IN MINNESOTA—GOV. GORMAN'S CONFESSION.—The reign of Sham Democracy has made Minnesota, perhaps the most luckless commonwealth in the American Union after Virginia. Her people, swindled beyond precedent in the loan of their credit to moonshine railroads and broken down currency mills, have now the satisfaction of learning that they were completely divested of all political rights at their first State election, and that their first Governor, and probably their first Legislature, their first Senators and Representatives in Congress, were foisted upon them by villainy hardly paralleled in the history of Free Government.

It will be remembered that after the election of 1857, the Republican press of the State charged upon the Federal officers and the leading members of the opposite party, a series of high handed frauds in the voting of the Indian tribes, and the forging of returns from Pembina and several other wilderness precincts.

These statements were supported by such evidence as made them generally believed, but hitherto there has been no testimony from the conclave where the frauds were hatched, sufficient to bring the evidence to the point of demonstration.

Gorman implicates Senator Rice, Gov. Sibley, Secretary Chase and himself in the forgeries of returns by which the State was secured to the Democracy—forgeries which should subject every man who countenanced or participated in them to hard labor in the penitentiary.

PACKING THE CONVENTIONS.—The Montello Ledger, (dem.) has the following:

We are asked almost every day who will be the Democratic nominee for Governor. We will answer all at once. There is so much "packing" going on now-a-days, that it is impossible to tell who the individual will be.

THAT SUPPLEMENTARY LETTER.

PART SECOND.

Oshkosh and Fond du Lac—The Adams House—The Crops—The Approaching Campaign—The Fourth of July.

FOND DU LAC, July 7, 1859.

DEAR SENTINEL:—It is a general impression elsewhere that Oshkosh and Fond du Lac are under Chicago influence so much as to be hostile to Milwaukee interests. Now I have passed two months up this way, and made two or three hundred business acquaintances in these cities, and can only say I am unable to discover any alarming determination among them to discontinue trade and friendly intercourse with Milwaukee. They are cool and calculating on the matter, as business men should be, having no set prejudices for either Milwaukee or Chicago. They think they can do best with their hides, beef and pork at the latter place: but it has been a common observation to me, by the forwarding merchants, that as long as the Milwaukee grain market has such decided advantages over that of Chicago, the main transportation of grain over the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad will be no further than to its intersection with the nearest Milwaukee railroad. It crosses four railroads that run to Milwaukee, viz: the Horicon, at Burnett; the La Crosse, near Horicon; the Baraboo Valley, at Watertown; and the Mississippi, near Milton. It also crosses the Racine & Mississippi Railroad near Delavan, and the Sheboygan & Mississippi Railroad will intersect it at this place—Fond du Lac. That road is now in operation from Sheboygan to twenty miles east of here.

One evidence that Oshkosh and Fond du Lac look more to Milwaukee than to Chicago, is that the circulation of the Sentinel in these cities is three times that of all the Chicago papers; and the other Milwaukee papers are taken liberally. Nevertheless, I did find one man at Oshkosh, and a lumberman and daguerreotype artist in this place, who raised their bristles "like quills upon the fretful porcupine," at the bare mention that your humble servant was a representative of Milwaukee.

There is more opposition in each of these cities to the other, than to Milwaukee. There is some pretty hard rivalry between them, but no deep seated enmity, as is evident from the prompt willing manner in which the firemen of this place went with their engines to Oshkosh on the night of the great fire. That was a deed the Oshkosh people will never forget; they glory in describing to visitors the fearless passage up Ferry street, that the Fond du Lac firemen made with their machines, when it was a sea of fire from one end to the other, and the terrible heat had driven every one else from the street; they were dismayed for a moment, and paused, but they saw it was the only way to reach the scene of action, and broke through, with rashness that has not been heard of since the Charge of the Light Brigade at Balaklava.

Something like this:

Fire in front of them, roaring and crackling;
Rushing through smoke and flame,
Right through the street they came,
Wall'd in by solid flame;
Follow'd the foremen's yell,
While walls and timbers fell,
Their noisy brakes and bell
Jingling and rattling!

Fire above them,—fire beneath them,—
Fire all round them, flaming and writhing;
Loud the harsh trumpet spoke
Out from the cloud of smoke
Through which they fiercely broke,
All but to faint and choke
With the foul breathing!

Peril they pass'd, and pain,
Such as to brave again
Gold could not hire men.
When can their glory fade?
Oh, the wild charge they made!
Fond du Lac Firemen!

Oshkosh is the larger city of the two.—The burnt district is full two-thirds rebuilt. Fond du Lac was settled by wealthier men than Oshkosh, which of course gave it a great advantage. It has more fine buildings, and a more finished appearance.

What Fond du Lac wants more than anything else, is a first class hotel. Such a one Oshkosh has. The Adams House there, is fully equal to the Hyatt House at Janesville, or the Augusta at La Crosse. It is one of the few real nice spacious houses in Wisconsin, where the traveler finds every comfort and attention. It was the only American hotel that was saved from the conflagration.

There is every sign of an abundant harvest in the country about here; wheat looks splendidly, and some fields will be fit to cut in two weeks. There is not much rye, and less barley, but both are first rate. Oats and corn suffered more from the spell of dry weather a short time ago, but now promise a full crop, though they begin to need rain again. Tame hay will be light; the rain didn't come quite soon enough to relieve it; but there is any quantity of marsh hay.—The few fields of winter wheat that were allowed to stand, look poorly.

Considerable interest begins to be felt as to who the candidates will be on the State tickets the coming Autumn, and one connected with so important an institution as the Milwaukee Sentinel, is asked all sorts of questions on the matter, and hears the remarks of many people, every day.

The democrats think that if Wisconsin isn't redeemed next November, she will be "past redemption's skill." It is a common remark among them that if GOV. RANDALL is re-nominated, Col. ROBINSON is the only man that can beat him. He is undoubtedly as strong a man as they have.

Some Republicans think favorably of Judge HOWE, for Governor, and some of CARL SCHURZ. But there is certainly a very general desire, wherever I have been, that every present State officer, who is a Republican, shall be re-nominated, especially RANDALL and MACGRAW.

The Fourth was celebrated here, with any amount of glory and fun. The "Riff Raffs" designed that the Sentinel boy should ride in their procession, on a stuffed elephant. But Mr. CRINKLE was missing that morning, and found himself at Berlin. From that place he was whirled over the Horicon Railroad, forty-two miles, at a touring speed, for the majestic Iron Horse himself seemed conscious of its being a great day, and determined to go it wild and scream fearfully. And what Railroad in the West is better for an excursion, than this! It runs through the very garden of Wisconsin.

There was no public celebration at Horicon, but any one who is acquainted there, is sure to enjoy the company of such nice people. Knowing that, I went there to have my little "Fourth." The American Eagle did not spread himself over me all day, but sat by, playful yet serene. There was no thunder; the stars and stripes floated quietly, high in air, at various points. Fire-works were displayed till late in the evening, at several places in the village, the best being at Judge LARRABEE'S.

The Odd Fellows had a pleasant festival at Mayville; the Horicon, Juneau, Waupun, and Mayville Lodges attending. Their Oration was delivered by L. B. HILLS, of Waupun, and the Poem by W. H. BUTTERFIELD, of Horicon.

Now I leave the country of the Chicago and North-Western Railroad, with none but pleasant memories. On the Railroad itself, I have done a great amount of travelling, and have not a word of fault to find with it. My thanks are due to T. F. STRONG, Esq., Superintendent of this division of the Road, for his courtesies to me; and the thanks of the traveling community are due to him, or to some one, for placing upon the Road, two such pleasant and competent conductors, as Messrs. BALDWIN and CHAMBERLAIN.

NYM CRINKLE.

THE DEATH of the venerable RICHARD RUSH, of Philadelphia, was reported on Sunday night, but the Ledger of Monday contradicts it, saying, however, that Mr. RUSH is in a critical and dangerous state of health.

Mons. Blondin's Second Great Performance on the Tight Rope—Walks Over the Niagara Enveloped in a Sack!

On Monday, the 4th, Mons. Blondin repeated his great feat of walking across the Niagara on a rope. The day was clear, cool, but little wind, beautiful as the great cyanast could have desired. The crowd of people was much larger than on Thursday. On the Canada side it was probably double, and would have been yet more largely increased on this side had there been no celebration at Buffalo, Lockport, and other places. It is impossible to make anything like a correct estimate of the numbers present on either side. The receipts for admission to the Pleasure Grounds were considerably in excess over those of Thursday.

Previous to walking over the river Mons. Blondin went through with his wonderful performance on the tight rope, on the ground. This alone is said to be unequalled by any other tight rope performer in the world, and among those present on both occasions were many who have seen some of the most celebrated performers in this country and Europe. To be convinced that falling from a rope don't come in his line of business one only needs to see him dance, turn summersets backwards and forwards, perform on a chair standing in most every conceivable position, jump backwards 10 to 15 feet, alighting on the rope perfectly erect and composed, &c., &c.

A few minutes before 5 o'clock Mons. Blondin grasped his balancing pole—which it must be remembered is about 35 feet long and of about 45 pounds weight—and started out backwards; after walking out about 75 feet he returned and then proceeded on his journey across the chasm of the river. The cable had been drawn up making it more taut and higher from the water. After going out about 100 feet the daring pedestrian stopped, stood on one foot, and then proceeded about 150 feet farther when he laid down on his back as gently as though on his couch.—Again he rose to his feet and continued his walk to the centre of the cable. Here one end of his pole caught under one of the guys but he soon extricated it and took another siesta. He here answered the cheers from the Canada side, swinging his hands, throwing up his feet, and all with the utmost sang froid imaginable. He reached the Canada side in 8 1-2 minutes, including stops, and was received with tremendous cheers, clapping of hands, swinging of hands, rebravos, &c., &c. Part of the distance was performed on a run!

After spending about an hour on the Canada side, Mons. B. re-appeared at the cable and gave the signal for the Band on the American side to play. He then drew a sack over his head which entirely enveloped him, except his legs and feet, and started on his return.—(Many of our prominent citizens did their utmost to induce him to abandon the idea of crossing in this manner, but to no purpose: he had promised the public, and Blondin would not give any one a chance to say he had deceived the people). When about 75 feet out, on his return, he laid down, then proceeded to the center. Here he sat down, laid down, threw up his feet, sat with both feet on one side, jumped up and continued his journey. It was plain to be seen that he exercised more care this time, yet he reached the American side in 10 minutes including stops! The actual time used in walking could not have been over 6 minutes. As he neared the bank several locomotives on both sides of the river set up such a shrill noise that but little else could be heard. The reception was most enthusiastic. The river gorge echoed and re-echoed cheer after cheer that went up from both sides. Blondin was borne through the excited crowd and after receiving the congratulations of his friends proceeded to the Falls in a carriage, and the vast crowd gradually dispersed.

It would be superfluous to add any lengthy comments on this grand performance. It is unequalled in the world's history. The reader may take the facts—for those are facts—seen with our own eyes—and judge himself of the amount of nerve required to do such an act. Few appreciate it—it is performed with such apparent ease—till they stop to consider all the circumstances—the rope stretched from bank to bank, a distance of over 1,000 feet, and 160 to 200 feet above the boiling impetuous flood—a pole of the length and weight described, to carry in his hands, held firmly in front, and walk perfectly erect and unconcerned as though on land, and in no hurry a time. The more these facts are considered the more astonishing will the feat appear.—Niagara Falls Gazette, July 6.

The Late Fire at Oshkosh.

The Democrat of Oshkosh gives the following list of losses, insurance, &c., by the late fire in that city:

The Planing-Mill of Morgan, Watts & Jones, total loss $9,000; insurance for $500 in the Peoria Company, $500 in the Hope of Painesville, Ohio, $500 in the Cleveland Mutual, $500 in the Washington Union, of Cleveland, Ohio; in all, $2,000.

Three small houses belonging to Mr. Clark; loss about $600; no insurance.

One dwelling belonging to Mr. Harrington; loss about $600; no insurance.

One dwelling belonging to Mr. Geo. Badger; loss $800; insured $200 in the Hartford Insurance Company.

The Episcopal parsonage; loss about $800; insured for $600 in the Phœnix.

Dr. Blake's house was much damaged, the wing being destroyed, and the roof, cornice, etc., of the main building being somewhat burned: loss probably about $800; insured for $250 in the Wisconsin Farmers' Co.

Several parties lost lumber which was at the Planing-Mill. Messrs. Hay & Clark had there about 12,000 feet, Bigger & Hill 9,000, Arnold & Eastman 6,000, M McCourt 5,000, and others, in smaller lots, about 6,000 feet. This lumber was mostly flooring, planed and matched, and worth $15 per thousand. The Episcopal Rector, Mr. F. R. Hall, lost considerably in furniture, and most of the clothing of himself and family. Mr. Badger's family lost some of their household stuff, although most of it was removed. The families living in the houses of Mr. Clark had barely time to huddle on a portion of their clothing and escape from their flaming dwellings.—They saved nothing.

The whole loss is probably not far from Thirteen Thousand Dollars.

Taking into account the part of our city which was endangered, and all the circumstances, we have great cause for thankfulness that the loss was not immensely larger.

THE GOOD FAITH OF ENGLAND'S ALLY.—The charge brought by the London Times, against the Emperor of France of being secretly in treaty with Russia, and thus being unfaithful to his alliance with England, is fully disproved by Lord Cowley, who in a letter to Lord Malmesbury, dated May 12, describing a conversation he had held with Count Walewski, says:

Alluding to what I had said with regard to Turkey, Count Walewski observed that he had received the most unequivocal assurances from the Russian Government of their desire to see the tranquility of Turkey maintained. He felt sure, therefore, that revolutionary movements in the Ottoman dominions would receive no encouragement from Russia.

With regard to France, Count Walewski assured me that the Imperial government was most anxious that no cause of umbrage should be given to Her Majesty's government on any question regarding Turkey. M. de Thouvenel had received orders to return to his post sooner than he intended, with the sole view of giving greater weight to the Emperor's intentions in this respect. He would revive the most positive instructions to act in complete concert with Sir Henry Bulwer; to consult him on every question which might arise; and on no account to separate himself from Her Majesty's Ambassador. He was to discourage, and as far as he could, control all attempts to set the Sultan's authority at naught; and special instructions of a similar nature would be furnished to all French Agents in the East. M. de Thouvenel, moreover, would take Athens in his way to Constantinople, with the exclusive object of impressing upon the Greek Government the necessity of abstaining from all intrigues to excite rebellion among the Greek subjects of the Porte.

I cannot doubt, from Count Walewski's tone and language, that it is the sincere wish of the Imperial government to prevent any question arising which could in any way occasion differences with Her Majesty's Government.

IN A BAD FIX.—The ordinances of the village of Platteville having become badly confused, and in some cases contradictory by frequent amendments and changes, the board of trustees concluded to simplify them by repealing the whole batch and re-enacting such as were deemed essential. Accordingly, "repeal" was the word, and "repeal" was the action, followed by re-enactment of a portion. So far it was plain sailing, and the ship was supposed to be brought into trim. But while these pleasant anticipations were indulged, a breaker, and a bad one, was discovered.—The charter of the village requires that all ordinances enacted shall be published in a paper printed in the village. Unfortunately, Platteville has no paper, the one published there having adopted a prevalent fashion of dying. To repeal an ordinance requires no publication, but to enact one a newspaper is as necessary as the board of trustees itself.

The result of this inflammatory movement is, therefore, that Platteville has no municipal laws at all. Perhaps she is best off without any; but be this as it may, it is not the entertainment to which her citizens were invited, and they want a newspaper. One of her citizens writes to the Grant County Herald for the publisher to send his gallinipper press and a few types, and start a new paper to be called "The Resurrectionist." He promises he will get a room, see Page about the editing, and that the corporation will roll, pay the printer and play devil.—Janesville Gazette.

Affairs in Washington.

From our own Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, July 1.

The fiscal year closed yesterday. The receipts of the last quarter up to the 27th of June, were £18,344,417 51. Returns from the last three days and from distant Custom Houses, are yet to be received. It appears by the last weekly statement that $1,400,000 of the last five million loan, on Account of Treasury notes remain to be paid. Estimating these balances of receipts from all sources at $2,000,000, the total revenue for the quarter may be stated at $20,344,417 51. Assuming the substantial correctness of this last item, the aggregate receipts for the year may be stated as follows:

1st quarter	$20,256,575 10
2d do	10,951,310 81
3d do	22,375,017 56
4th do, partly estimated	20,344,417 51
Receipts from all sources	$73,926,320 98

The expenditures were—

1st quarter of fiscal	$21,756,198 71
2d do do	13,966,447 25
3d do do	15,743,370 56
4th do, partly estimated	22,751,000 22
	$74,217,821 69

Of the year's receipts $25,211,150 were obtained by means of direct loans and the reissue of Treasury notes, being nearly one-third of the whole. Of the expenditures one-eighth of one per cent. were for redemption of loans, or in payment of old funded debts, and about $9,082,000 was upon account of Treasury notes reimbursed, paid and cancelled, of which $5,600,000 have been taken up during the present week. The amount of Treasury Notes outstanding on the 1st of July, is $14,171,700. The amount now on hand is $5,825,260—of which nearly $5,000,000 have come in since the 20th of June.

The estimates of exports and imports now circulating on the authority of compilers for some of the newspapers, are considered erroneous by the Department, to the extent of fifty millions dollars.

The National debt has been increased the past year by the sum of $18,500,000, and the deficiency of income as compared with expenditure, has been $18,792,000. The balance in the treasury is about three and a half millions of dollars.—N. Y. Courier.

A DEAD MAN'S CAMPAIGN.—One of the ablest strategists in America is of the opinion that the present tactics of the Austrians are those which the Duke of Wellington mapped out for that Government in 1815, immediately upon the escape of Napoleon, and in the expectation of a movement being made by the French upon Lombardy. It was founded upon the fact that he had invariably beaten the French by not giving them battle till their enthusiasm had expired: he allowed their steam (so to speak,) to exhaust itself in skirmishes, marchings, countermarchings, or inaction; and when they were in a state of lassitude and chagrin from these causes, he gave them battle, and thus as it were, forced enemi to meet stern doggedness. There never was a finer army than that which Massena led against Wellington, when the latter took his stand at Torres Vedras; how it melted beneath the negative opposition of the British general is well known. Wellington, therefore, advised the Archduke Charles not to give battle to the French till he had wearied them out with resistless skirmishings and vigilant inaction. In a conversation will Mr. Heaphy, the artist, the Duke said: "A French army is like a bottle of Champagne, irresistible and glorious when first opened, but it soon loses its vitality if left to stand, while an Englishman is like port, all the better for keeping."

It must be borne in mind that Austria has patience as its ally, while the same element is fatal to his antagonist.—Illustrated News.

DEATH OF A PROMINENT CITIZEN.—Our citizens were shocked, yesterday, by the sudden death of Dr. Charles W. Borup, senior partner of the firm of Borup & Oakes, Bankers. His death occurred at his residence at half past two o'clock in the afternoon. The suddenness of the visitation almost makes its realization impossible. Dr. Borup, though slightly indisposed for a fortnight past, had regularly attended to the business of his bank up to within two hours of his death.—Indeed, we learn that he was engaged in a pleasant conversation with some members of his family at the very moment when he was stricken from life.

Dr. Borup had been prominently connected with the business affairs of the Northwest upwards of a quarter of a century, and had built up, with a large fortune, a reputation for financial sagacity; extending beyond the limits of his business operations.—St. Paul Pioneer, July 6.

VERTIGO, Extreme Languor and Exhaustion will not trouble you after using one bottle of HOSTETTER'S HOLLAND BITTERS. Take half a tea-spoonful regularly, one hour before meals—eat moderately—take a short walk before breakfast, and you will find that all that has been said of this remedy is true. Try it; it rarely fails to relieve Sick Headache, Weakness or any kind, Acidity of the Stomach, or any symptom of Dyspepsia.

CAUTION!—Beware of imposition See that the name of Benjamin Page, Jr. & Co., sole proprietors Pittsburgh, Pa., is on the label of every bottle.

A Visit to Garibaldi.

In the course of a tour in Switzerland, two Englishmen (fellow colonists and pastoral squatters from Australia), together with their wives and a young lady friend, ascended Mont St. Gothard, with the intention of crossing the Furka pass to Interlachen.—They found it impracticable, and rather than turn back determined to go to Como, (of which place, they heard from the conductor of the diligence, that Garibaldi had taken possession), and then by the Simplon to Geneva. At Lugano the danger of going among such brigands was pointed out to them in strong terms by all whom they encountered.—Only one—an elderly French gentleman—gave them any comfort, and he said the English might go anywhere, but then so might madmen. The party, however, resolved to proceed, and on the 3d of June they reached Como in safety. One of the travelers thus describes their arrival:

We drove through quiet streets crowded with armed men to the Albergo del Angelo, and were received and shown rooms just as we should have been a year ago, only there was a guard in the gateway, and we passed a room full of officers writing, or the general had here taken up his head-quarters. We did not consider that it would be a serious breach of the neutrality of the nation if we paid our respects to the Garibaldi who defended Rome, and who amid all the blunders and disasters of '48 showed that only times and opportunities are wanting to develop in the Italians a single-minded heroism and constancy worthy of ancient Rome. After lunch we sent in our cards, and a message came from the aid-de-camp, saying that the General was asleep, but as soon as he awoke he would present them, and had no doubt he would be happy to receive. After an hour's saunter among the volunteers we were informed that the General would be happy to wait upon the ladies, and in a short time he was shown in.—He proved as different from what we expected as was the state of the town from that reported.

From his portraits and warlike exploits, I had pictured to myself a very tall, large man of sallow complexion, with long black hair and beard, with something of the romantic air of those Spanish guerilla chiefs who sang their own songs to the guitar, or killed people with equal gusto. Just the reverse. I could scarcely believe that the quiet, unaffected, gentlemanly man who entered and sat down with us, was Garibaldi. He is of middle height, not more than five feet seven or eight inches, I should think; a square shouldered, deep-chested, powerful man, without being at all heavy. He has a healthy English complexion, with brown hair and beard, rather light, both slightly touched with grey, and cut very short. His head shows a very fine development, mental as well as moral, and his face is good, though not remarkable to a casual observer—nothing to show the man who could form and carry out such plans as the retreat from Rome and the capture of Como; but when he spoke of the oppression and sufferings of his country, the lip and eye told the deep feeling long suppressed, and the steadfast daring character of the man. A child would stop him in the street to ask him what o'clock it was, but the man condemned to be shot in half an hour, would never, after a look at that calm determined face, waste time in asking mercy upon earth. During our long interview he spoke much of passing events (excepting his own share,) but without southern gesticulation.

He has the calm manner and appearance of the English gentleman and officer; it was only when he spoke of the generous sympathy of the people of England with the sufferings of Italy that his Saxon-like calmness gave way; then, as he assured us again and again how thoroughly it was appreciated by Italians of every class, and how grateful they were for it, he showed that the warm blood of Italy burned in his veins. My impression had been that his operations were more the result of rash impulse than military calculation; but it was palpable that strong as may be his impulses, they are thoroughly under control. Bold and enterprising, even to apparent rashness, he is, no doubt, but he is also cool and calculating, and as I watched him on the opposite side of the table, telling the ladies of his voyage to China and the antipodes as pleasantly and calmly as if in a London drawing-room, while at any moment he might be interrupted by the fire of an overpowering Austrian force brought by railway to his outpost, I felt no doubt that in case of the very worst he had arranged what to do, and would do it. But what impressed me most was the mental calibre of the man; I met him with the idea that he was little more than a dashing, popular, military leader. I parted with him from the conviction that his warlike career is a mere episode in his history, and that his true greatness will be seen in the political regeneration and government of his country.

A Strange People.

From the London Journal.

There are many odd countries in the world, whose inhabitants rejoice in very odd customs; but for the oddest of people, and the queerest of manners, commend us to those islands included in the sovereignty of Japan.

Until a very recent date, no Europeans were permitted to trespass beyond the sacred limits of this most exclusive of empires, nor were any Japanese allowed to quit their native shores. Even now, when you land at Nagasaki, your movements are watched by regular sentries, who report every step you take to their superiors; while to prevent the Japanese themselves from roaming to foreign shores, all their vessels are built after a government model, with open stern, so that long sea voyages are impossible; and if they exclude us from visiting them, they are in turn equally debarred from visiting us.

They need not be afraid of visitors from any possibility of being overpowered by numbers; for the thousand and one isles which make up the empire of Japan contain thirteen thousand densely peopled towns.—Jeddo, the capital, situated on the island of Niphon, has a population nearly equal to that of London; and we are told by travelers that the castle in which resides the secular emperor, there are two emperors—one sacred, one secular,) could accommodate forty thousand men. Miako, a city covering twelve square miles, could raise a battalion of fifty-two thousand priests alone; while Osacca—the Birmingham of the empire—could itself send forth an army of eighty thousand.—"You scarcely emerge from one burrough," says Kæmpfer, "but you enter another; and you may travel many miles, as it were, in one street, without knowing it to be composed of many villages, save by the differing names that were formerly given them, and which they after retained, though joined to one another."

Earthquakes are disastrously frequent in Japan, and are of terribly long duration.—One in 1846 lasted, with varying intensity, for forty days. Two hundred thousand perished at Jeddo during the convulsion of 1703; and a large city was prostrated by that of 1792. It becomes impossible, therefore, for the Japanese architects to construct lofty piles out of clay and bamboos, and the chimneys of the Manchester factories would be out of place in Niphon. The law restricts the height of a dwelling to six kins, or forty-four feet three inches, and there are few houses which boast of more than one story.

Let us walk into a Japanese house, passing without notice the worthy householder, who sits in a tub of water at the door, performing his ablutions with a refreshing freedom from bashfulness. You notice that the floor is slightly raised above the level of the earth, and thickly covered with mats of rushes and rice-straw, elegantly decorated. These mats are used instead of chairs, and there are no tables, but you will be provided with a little raised tray when you take refreshments.—There are no beds—you must sleep upon mats, sit upon mats, smoke upon mats, and fidget upon mats.

Observe that the rooms are separated by folding screens of gilt or colored papers, and lighted by windows of oiled paper, for glass is unknown. You cannot warm yourselves at the fire—there is, alas! no fireplace; but in the middle of the room you may crouch down on the brink of the square tiled hole, from which ascends the fumes of charcoal.—The said charcoal, by-the-by, is always burning, and over it a kettle of hot water is always boiling. The Japanese drink tea as voraciously as English old women; but they use little sugar, don't put many spoonsful into the pot, and serve it up in porcelain cups.

The bath-room resembles European bath-rooms in its general appointments; but it is more frequently resorted to than in our chilly British Isles. The Japanese men bathe, the women bathe, the children bathe, in-doors and out-of-doors, morning, noon and night. The water movement is universal, and most zealously followed out.

At the top of the house is a large tub of water as a resource in the not unfrequent event of a conflagration. No London insurance company, we fancy, would insure at any premium, the inflammable structures of bamboos, screens, oiled papers, mats and timber, peloped by the Japanese—houses.—There are wooden tanks in the streets, and rude fire engines at appointed stations—where the alarm is given by patrols, who on discovering the first shooting flames, stalk forcibly the thick planks suspended from posts for that purpose.

The Japanese women, according to recent travelers, are models of amiability and good temper, graceful in their manners and attractive in their persons. But they dye their lips a fierce scarlet, their cheeks a violet, and stain their teeth black, with a detestably gangrenous compound—practices scarcely in harmony with the toilet artifices of an English belle. They are fond of dress, of course, or would they be women?

The Japanese gentleman is, generally, a well-looking, intelligent, and active individual. He wears two swords—a large and a small one; while the middle-class man is only entitled to one sword: and "lower order" carry none. He carries a fan wherever he goes, and whatever he does, and he delights in huge trousers, like a shoot "stitched up between the legs, though open at the sides in order to allow of the play of his feet whilst walking." His shoes, and his horse's shoes are made of plaited straw. Consequently, they wear out with unparalleled rapidity, and force upon their wearer a shambling, shuffling gait, like Robson's in the "Wandering Minstrel." Tanners and curriers are not in good odor in Japan, for they have to touch the bodies of the dead—a necessity which the Japanese religion, singularly enough, resents.

Kendall, in his "Memorials of the Empire of Japan," pronounces an opinion on the Japanese character which seems admirably impartial: "They carry," he says, "their notions of honor to the verge of fanticism, and they are haughty, vindictive and licentious. On the other hand, brawlers, braggarts, and backbiters are held in the most supreme contempt. The slightest infraction of truth is punished with severity; they are open-hearted, hospitable, and, as friends, faithful to death. It is supposed that there is no peril a Japanese will not encounter to serve a friend; no torture will compel him to betray a trust; and that even the stranger who seeks aid will be protected to the last drop of blood."

THE SENTINEL.

COMMERCIAL.

FRIDAY, July 8th, 1859.

Money Matters, &c.

We understand that the bankers of this city have unanimously agreed to assert the notes of those banks in the interior of the State, that have refused or neglected to comply with the central redemption proposition made by the bankers of this city and Madison, and subsequently approved of by the Convention of Country Bankers held at the Newhall House. A very large number of the banks now redeem their notes on presentation to their correspondents here, in exchange upon New York, at a premium of ¾ @ 1 cent less than the selling rate; but it is found necessary to resort to some such measure as that adopted, to bring the wild cat institutions to terms. There is some opposition to the plan now in operation even amongst the banks complying with it, and it is understood that the subject will be a prominent theme before the Annual Convention of the Bankers' Association.

We have nothing new to note in money matters. Exchange remains steady at 2 ½ cent, but the tendency is towards a better supply, and there is a prospect of an early reduction in the price. The demand for discounts is not heavy, and the banks find no difficulty in taking all the offerings of good paper.

CHICAGO, THURSDAY, JULY 7TH.—Receipts: 847 bbls flour, 3,536 bus wheat, 17,068 bus corn, 1,992 bus oats, 570 bus barley. Shipments: 2,636 bbls flour, 15,000 bus wheat. In regard to the market the Press & Tribune remarks:

The heaviness which has prevailed in wheat during the past ten days took effect with full force in the market to-day, which, notwithstanding more favorable news from N. Y., declined 2@3c per bus on all grades. The dullness in winter qualities was increased by the limited specimens of new wheat exhibited on 'Change, giving promise of a large as well as an excellent crop. The decline on spring wheat was also facilitated by the afternoon reports of the Buffalo market, showing a sale of 7,000 bus standard spring at 90c, delivered at Black Rock. The transactions in this market were principally in standard spring, which opened at 89c, and closed dull this evening at 85c, with no buyers at that figure. About 20,000 bushels of all grades changed hands, nearly all for delivery to-day and to-morrow, at 74@74 ½c for No. 1 red; 85c for No. 2 red delivered at mill; 85@86c for standard spring; and 60c for rejected. Flour was very dull, and the best brands of spring extras were offered at $5,25 without buyers. Corn opened heavy, with a decline of 1c, but after the New York dispatches were received the market revived, and the prices of yesterday were maintained—closing easier at last. About 20,000 bushels in all changed hands at 32@33c for No. 1 in store. There was no car-load corn offered—no boats having yet arrived by the canal. Oats were quiet but firm at 25c. Nothing doing in rye or barley. Provisions inactive. Wool unchanged. Hides scarce and firm. Potatoes very dull.

Breadstuffs, &c.

The following table shows the movements of breadstuffs at this point for the past 24 hours:

The dispatches from the east had an unfavorable influence on the wheat market to-day, and but few buyers could be found to come up to yesterday's closing figures. About 3,500 bus No. 1 spring sold in the early part of the day at 84c, and later, 2,700 bus on p. t. understood to be at 83c. There was scarcely any extra club on the market. The only lot offered was taken at $1,15. The market was dull and heavy at the close.

A few hundred barrels of flour changed hands at $5,50 for common country extra; $6,25 for choice city, and $7 for extra white winter.

Corn and oats were steady and tolerably active. Potatoes dull and still lower. Wool less active, but firm. Highwines declined ½ c to 1c, selling at 25¾@26c. Hides firm and a shade higher.

MILWAUKEE DAILY MARKET.

Friday—7 P. M.

FLOUR—Sales 200 bbls "Railroad Mills" spring extra at $5,50 f. o. b.; 50 bbls city extra at $6,25; 100 bbls "Whitewater" extra w. w. at $7, f. o. b.

WHEAT—Market less firm, but unchanged. Sales 900 bus No. 1 spring at 84c; 2,600 bus do at same price; 2,700 bus do on p. t.; 100 bus No. 2 at 75c; 500 bus extra club at $1,15.

CORN—Steady; 400 bus sold at 32c.

OATS—Firm. Sales 1,600 bus shelled at 25c, delivered.

RYE—None in market. Quoted nominally at 51 for good qualities.

POTATOES—Dull and declining. Sales 200 bus common at 45c. The best qualities would not probably bring more than 75c.

MARINE INTELLIGENCE.

Vessels passed Port Colbourne Lock from 4 P. M. on the 7th of July till 4 P. M. on the 8th of July.

Bound West—7th: Prop. Prairie State; Bark H. S. Fairchild. 8th: Prop. Akron.

Bound East—Schs. Isabella, Australia.

☞ The following vessels passed Detroit on Wednesday:

Bound Up—Props. Montgomery, Manhattan; schr. Arab.

Bound Down—Props. Northern Light, Queen of the Lakes, Buckeye, Cuyahoga.

THE CAPSIZING OF THE STANDARD.—The Detroit Tribune says that the captain of the schooner Hanover, which went to the relief of the barque Stannard, represents the squall as one of the severest he ever experienced. The Hanover saved the lives of seven of the crew, the cook included. The cook and captain's son were imprisoned two hours after the barque had capsized. Her spars giving way she again righted, when they were rescued from their perilous situation.

The tugs Oswego and Dan Rhodes had gone to the relief of the ill-fated vessel.

SURE.—The Ontonagon Miner says that the river boat Resolution, in passing down the Grand Rapids with twenty tons of copper on board, struck a rock and stove a hole in her starboard side, so large as to cause her to sink in a few minutes. They managed to get her into an eddy a few rods below the rapids, where her bows were in three feet water, though her stern was entirely submerged.

WRECK.—The Ontonagon Miner gives an account of the recent loss of the schooner Courier. She went on the bench on the south shore of Presque Isle, in a gale, and is a perfect wreck. She belonged to Willard & Day. Her cargo, which was mostly saved, was insured in the Etna. Her hull was uninsured.

RESCUE OF A LARGE VESSEL FROM.—The Northern Transportation's screw steamer Buckeye, which passed this port to-day, picked up on the morning of the 4th, near the Traverse, the topsail yard, topmast, sails and standing rigging of a large vessel, the yard being fifty-six feet in length. The standing rigging is quite old; the sails are in a good condition. They may belong to a vessel, dismasted in the severe squall of Saturday, or possibly to one that was lost, with none of the crew spared to relate the sad tale of their disaster.

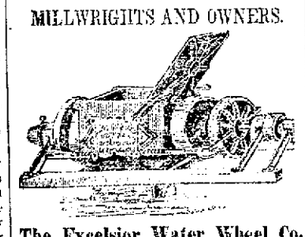
IMPORTANT NOTICE

—TO—

MILLWRIGHTS AND OWNERS.



The Excelsior Water Wheel Co.

ARE MANUFACTURING A NEW KIND of Water Wheel, patented 18th May, and 15th December, 1858, by J. H. Fairchild, of Vermont. It is conceded on entirely new principle of construction, and of everything now in use, by which we obtain a greater maximum power than is obtained by any other wheel now in use. Some of the advantages of this Wheel are:

1st. We obtain the ENTIRE WEIGHT of the water, and have the advantage of the full head and fall, from water to water.

2d. It surpasses all other wheels in velocity and power.

3d. It is perfectly under the control of the workmen, either when used to drive a large or small amount of machinery, for the reason that the whole of the water passes through the wheel. It is not diminished by reducing its motion, since it depends upon the weight of the column of water below the wheel, which always remains about the same.

4th. It occupies less space than any other wheel—is placed inside the flume, near the surface of the water, and is never affected by frost.

5th. The whole is not lost, being made of iron, and can be put in in any place and attached to Saw Mills, Grist Mills, and machinery of all kinds, with less expense than any wheel now in use. The velocity of the wheel is such that the expense of gearing up is avoided for nearly all purposes.

To the above advantages above stated, we are ready to warrant the Wheel to possess a power equal to the following figures, for each foot fall of water

9 inch wheel		55 100 horse-power.
10½	"	69 100 "
12	"	90 100 "
13½	"	1 31 100 "

30	"	10 04 100 "
33	"	12 15 100 "
36	"	14 46 100 "

Wheels of the above sizes make from 40% to 1000 revolutions per minute. When sold, are ready to set with gearing, and shaft, so that they can be easily put to place it in the flume, which can be done with less expense than any other wheel.

The Company have competent workmen, who will put them in any place in workmanlike manner, at reasonable rates.

Any other sizes can be effected at a less price than any other wheels now in use.

CERTIFICATES.

MIDDLETOWN, CT., DEC. 1, 1858.

DEAR SIR—IN ANSWER TO YOUR INQUIRY concerning the Fairchild Patent Water Wheel that you put into my factory for me, I take great pleasure in stating that it has exceeded my expectation. I took out a Breast Wheel to fit in diameter, by 5 feet Buckets, and replaced it with one of Fairchild's Patent, and by [illegible] more water power, with a greater amount of water, and the portion is as [illegible] that of steam power. It is also the advantage of being very cheap and durable.

It operates under a 9 feet head and fall, and carries with it its governor and sufficient power to drive a small amount of machinery, which is necessary for the manufacturing of firearms." Wherein an increase of [illegible] may aid Wheels would materially oppose the speed.

It is without doubt the best Wheel I have ever used, and I have been in Water Wheels to the extent over a period of 25 years. Any one interested in Water Wheels will be convinced of the superiority, however slight, by calling at the trouble of calling at my factory and see its performance.

I am, yours, respectfully,
EDWARD SAVAGE.

Mr. Savage writes me again under date of Jan. 6th 1859. The Wheel continues to give entire satisfaction and I am more and more pleased with it. It has not caused us a moment's delay since you were here.

SURGEON, Franklin Co., Va., June 26, 1858.

DEAR SIR—I have one of Mr. Fairchild's Wheels in operation at my Machine Shop, which I can recommend to the public with perfect confidence, as possessing all the advantages claimed for it. The Wheel that I am using is 15 inches in diameter. It gives more power, and runs more steadily than the twelve-feet Breast Wheel, which I have used before, requiring less water under the same head and fall.

H. CARLISLE.

Many other testimonials from many eastern manufactories may be seen at my office, where the Wheels are invited to call and examine this wheel, and where they will at all times be kept on hand to meet the demand. An 18 inch wheel is now running the Planing Mill and other Machinery of my establishment. The manufactory of M. V. King, Esq., (late Dana) Joliet, Ill., where any one will be pleased to call and see the wheel in practical operation, and a small circular constantly making 1000 revolutions per minute. MOORE'S

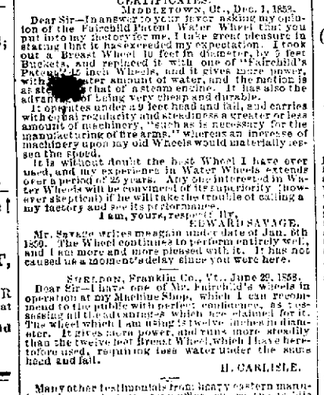
Thirty Dollar, Double Lock Stitch,



FAMILY SEWING MACHINE!!

SECURED BY RECENT LETTERS PATENT.

THE ADVENT OF THIS NEW, MOST useful and unrepairable Machine is destined to create a great and decided change in [illegible] upon the subject of CHEAP SEWING MACHINES.

We confidently assert and can readily prove, by a specified demonstration, that this Machine surpasses in its construction the best combination of Sewing Machines now before the public, regardless of price. With an eye quick to detect the deficiences and imperfections of other Machines, Mr. Moore has sought to remedy them all; and we feel assured in certifying examination of this beautiful piece of mechanism, that it [illegible] establish it as the only practicable sewing Machine in the country, and the principle to any [illegible] Machine now sold. Several hundred of these spools, (as bought at the store, without re-winding,) one above the Machine, and one underneath, and between the [illegible] and [illegible] can be made either by hand or machinery. It cannot be split, and though the cloth is subjected to a tension [illegible] upon such goods, the very making it particularly applicable for articles that require stretching and pulling. The machinery for feeding the cloth is unlike all others, and is without doubt, the best constructed.

The breaking of needles, a common and expensive fault with machines, is entirely remedied in this. With proper care one needle will last for months. The needle is [illegible] in the most perfect manner, and made in every respect perfect and durable. Unlike other Machines, there is no danger of changing the stitch, [illegible] by the variation of the thickness of the article operated upon. The capacity of the wheel is such that the expense of gearing up is avoided for nearly all purposes.

Those and many other advantages above stated, we are ready to warrant the Wheel to possess a power equal to the following figures, for each foot fall of water

9 inch wheel		55 100 horse-power.
10½	"	69 100 "

30	"	10 04 100 "

Wheels of the above sizes make from 40% to 1000 revolutions per minute. When sold, are ready to set with gearing, and shaft, so that they can be easily put to place it in the flume, which can be done with less expense than any other wheel.

The Company have competent workmen, who will put them in any place in workmanlike manner, at reasonable rates.

Any other sizes can be effected at a less price than any other wheels now in use.

CERTIFICATES.

MIDDLETOWN, CT., DEC. 1, 1858.

DEAR SIR—IN ANSWER TO YOUR INQUIRY concerning the Fairchild Patent Water Wheel that you put into my factory for me, I take great pleasure in stating that it has exceeded my expectation. I took out a Breast Wheel to fit in diameter, by 5 feet Buckets, and replaced it with one of Fairchild's Patent, and by [illegible] more water power, with a greater amount of water, and the portion is as [illegible] that of steam power. It is also the advantage of being very cheap and durable.

It operates under a 9 feet head and fall, and carries with it its governor and sufficient power to drive a small amount of machinery, which is necessary for the manufacturing of firearms." Wherein an increase of [illegible] may aid Wheels would materially oppose the speed.

It is without doubt the best Wheel I have ever used, and I have been in Water Wheels to the extent over a period of 25 years. Any one interested in Water Wheels will be convinced of the superiority, however slight, by calling at the trouble of calling at my factory and see its performance.

I am, yours, respectfully,
EDWARD SAVAGE.

Mr. Savage writes me again under date of Jan. 6th 1859. The Wheel continues to give entire satisfaction and I am more and more pleased with it. It has not caused us a moment's delay since you were here.

SURGEON, Franklin Co., Va., June 26, 1858.

DEAR SIR—I have one of Mr. Fairchild's Wheels in operation at my Machine Shop, which I can recommend to the public with perfect confidence, as possessing all the advantages claimed for it. The Wheel that I am using is 15 inches in diameter. It gives more power, and runs more steadily than the twelve-feet Breast Wheel, which I have used before, requiring less water under the same head and fall.

H. CARLISLE.

Many other testimonials from many eastern manufactories may be seen at my office, where the Wheels are invited to call and examine this wheel, and where they will at all times be kept on hand to meet the demand. An 18 inch wheel is now running the Planing Mill and other Machinery of my establishment. The manufactory of M. V. King, Esq., (late Dana) Joliet, Ill., where any one will be pleased to call and see the wheel in practical operation, and a small circular constantly making 1000 revolutions per minute.
